Diwali Celebration

Diwali, or Deepawali, is India's biggest and most important festival of the year. The festival gets its name from the row (avali) of clay lamps (deepa) that Indians light outside their homes to symbolize the inner light that protects from worldly darkness of ignorance, evil, etc.

Observances of Diwali differ depending on region and their traditions. Among Hindus the most widespread custom is the lighting of diyas (small earthenware lamps filled with oil) during the night of the new moon to request the presence of Laksmi, the Goddess of Wealth.

In this context, gift packets and sweets were distributed to teachers and Diwali was celebrated in our school.

Success is no accident. It is hard work, perseverance, learning, studying, sacrifice and most of all, love of what you are doing.

Success occurs when your dreams get bigger than your excuses.

If you focus on the process and not the outcome, you will have better results.

It's not the time to look for excuses.
